

If you've already spiritually adopted your baby, you may be wondering what's happening! Each week, you'll be able to read an update in the bulletin describing your baby's progress. As you pray, ask God to bless and strengthen your baby and his or her parents as they prepare for this miraculous birth!

If you haven't spiritually adopted your baby yet, you still can! Both pink and blue adoption cards will be available in the entrance of the church before vigil Mass on Saturday and 8:00 am, 10:30 am, and 12:15 pm Mass on Sunday.

Week 2: This week your baby has grown to over 150 cells making up 3 layers. God's miraculous plan allows each layer to do a special job! The inside layer is working hard to make up what will become your baby's lungs and stomach. The middle layer will quickly begin growing bones, cartilage, heart, muscles and internal organs all the while the outside layer is growing into your baby's brain, nervous system and skin. Your mommy may not even know you're there BUT.....God knows all! Right now, He knows everything about you as you float safely in your mother's womb!

Week 3: Wow! Three weeks already and your baby is getting stronger every day! Your baby has attached himself or herself to the wall of your uterus and the placenta that will keep your baby safe and nourished throughout your pregnancy has begun to form. Your baby's brain and my spine are continuing to develop and all of those features that make your baby unique like hair color and eye color have already been determined by God! How exciting to know your baby will be in your arms in just a few short months!
